WELCOME TO GRAND ARMY

Washington Ablaze with Color—Thousands of Veterans Are Arriving

PARADE WEDNESDAY
WILL BE FEATURE

Thirty Thousand Survivors of the Historic March 50 Years Ago Will Be Greeted by President Wilson — Reunion Not a Tented Affair.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Ablaze with patriotic color, Washington welcomes today the advance guard of the fast-fading Union host coming to participate in the 40th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic which begins here Monday.

Thousands of veterans already have arrived and every train brings hundreds more who 50 years ago marched under the eyes of Grant and in the wake of Sherman in the greatest military review the world had ever seen.

Thirty thousand survivors of the historic march up Pennsylvania avenue from the Capitol to the White House, which marked the close of the Civil war, are expected to be here to commemorate on Wednesday that world-thrilling spectacle. In September, 1865, President Johnson bared his head to 169,000 triumphant heroes of the Union army. President Wilson next Wednesday will greet those who remain, after half a century, to make the march again.

Extraordinary preparations have been made for the encampment because it probably will be the last Grand Army reunion in the capital. To this end plans for entertaining 100,000 visitors have been perfected and the event already gives promise of being a magnificent one.

ernment building are draped with the national colors. The streets of the city are radiant lines of red, white and blue as the throngs of guests and visitors arrive. David J. Palmer, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, and Gen. Nelson A. Miles, retired, will act as grand marshal of the commemorative review, are among the early arrivals. With them have come scores of men who took conspicuous part in the war.

Although the grand review will be the most spectacular feature of the reunion, many interesting events are on the program for the celebration, which will continue until Oct. 3. The war and navy departments have co-operated with the citizens' committee to add in entertainment of the veterans. Exhibition drills of regular troops are to be held on the Washington monument grounds. Secretary Daniels has arranged to have submarines, torpedo boats and other small naval craft unknown to Civil war days here for inspection. There will be hydroplane and aeroplane flights and other features to illustrate the advance in warfare during 50 years.

The capital already has taken on the martial air that is to pervade it for the coming week. The streets are enlivened with veterans and members of organizations allied with the Grand Army, which also will hold reunions. Among them are the Sons of Veterans, the Loyal Legion, the Medal of Honor Legion, the Volunteer Officers' Association, the Naval Veterans, Ex-prisoners of War, the Society of the Army of the Potomac, the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, Society of the Army of the Ohio, Woman's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., and Daughters of Veterans.

Upon their arrival today the veterans discovered that the reunion this year was not to be a tented affair. Heretofore headquarters of the various Grand Army departments at annual reunions have been established in tents, but headquarters this time have been provided in the old census bureau building which has been adequately adapted for the purpose.

The main floor has been divided into two huge auditoriums in one of which will be held business sessions of the encampment and a general reception Tuesday night to be attended by President Wilson. The other has been set aside for camp fires and naval dog-watches which will be continuous features of the reunion.

On the second floor of the structure rooms have been provided for headquarters of the various corps for the military and semi-military organizations allied with it. Rest rooms, restaurants and a hospital also are provided.

Union were extended invitations and arrangements for their entertainment have been made. This action was taken at the suggestion of officials of the Grand Army, the meeting of the blue and gray on the Gettysburg battlefield two years ago having given testimony of the amicable relationship existing between the two organizations. Invitations also have been extended to governors of all states and members of their staff, as well as to a large number of distinguished officers of the United States, including members of the cabinet, who will review the soldiers with the President and members of congress. The commemorative review on Wednesday will start from the Peace monument at the east entrance to the Capitol grounds and proceed up Pennsylvania avenue through a court of honor in front of the White House. A huge reviewing stand has been erected there. Besides the veterans in line will be the Sons of Veterans, regular army, marine corps, sailors from the fleet, cadets and independent military bodies.
